Dear Bill:

It is my pleasure to send to you the first annual report of the United States Information Agency's Private Sector Committees.

This report tells the story of more than 140 dedicated Americans who make up USIA's 10 voluntary Private Sector Committees. These men and women represent a dramatic cluster of the principal forces driving American society today. They depict a cross-section of political opinion from academia, business, organized labor, government, civic and not-for-profit organizations. Their commitment is to extend the operating resources available to USIA by providing advice and review as well as tangible support for the Agency's programs.

As private citizens, the members of the Private Sector Committees have formed an important partnership with the Federal Government to help keep our country great. We feel very fortunate to have the benefit of their wise counsel and we salute them for their strong bi-partisan support of the mission of this Agency.

Sincerely,
